Editor's Corner

Welcome to the 55th Reunion! This Glump brings you all the latest news available as of October 11th. As always, The Glump is intended as a two-way communication device so please feel free to send in information anytime.

As announced in the Fall 2002 Glump, the alumni association will soon have its own website. The structure of the forthcoming website (<http://www.apoezaa.org/>) has been completed, but the content has not. At the President's discretion, responsibility for maintaining the content of the website has been added to the duties of the Member-at-Large officer.

Enjoy the Reunion!

Extension Chairman Report

by Paul Lavoie

Some work has been done in merging our database of Brothers, which originated from the RPI database, with the National Fraternity's database. A couple hundred Brothers were found in the process. Unfortunately that is about the same number as those Brothers of whom we have lost track. A list will be provided at the Reunion and on the website in hopes that we can get some of these resolved.

One change that I have instituted in the directory is the inclusion of all active Brothers. This was done in order to ease the integration with the National database. In addition, it does help solve a problem of the younger Brothers never quite finding their way into the database, and will inform them that we exist before they graduate.

Nationals and RPI will be updated with those addresses that are agreeable for return sometime in November. It's amazing how out of date some of the records were.

Treasury Report

Death of APO Founder

from the August 18, 2002 edition of The New York Times

TERWILLIGER-Donald Leroy, died August 10, 2002, at the age of 95 in Sarasota, FL. He was a graduate of Lafayette College, Class of '28, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and a founder of Alpha Phi Omega. He served as a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Navy from 1942-1946. He founded D.L. Terwilliger Co., a lithography firm in NYC. He was a founding member of the 23rd St. Association in NYC. He was predeceased by his first wife, Mary Esther Henderson. He is survived by his wife of 31 years, Jean Terwilliger, Sarasota, FL; his son, Lee, Pine Plains, NY; and his daughter, Sally, of Boulder, CO; two grandsons, three step-sons, and five great-grandchildren.

News and Notes

Salvatore Troiano 1970: Have lived in Florida for 4 years now and am loving it! My presence must be good for the state since no hurricanes of any significance have hit since I moved here. And to think that there used to be a time that I told my wife, Ellen, that I'd never move to Florida because there weren't enough hi-tech jobs there! The medical products company I work for (Alcon-Laser Eye Surgery Equipment) sure proved me wrong!

Doug Michael 1975: Am enjoying: growing older with my wonderful wife, ... kids (21, 18, 16, 14) doing well, ... 2 visits this year with Kingbee '75 and family, ... expanding medical practice, ... on-going health industry project/yearly trips to Guatemala, ... and the periodic news from all of you.

Robert Philhower 1986: My daughter, Naomi, is starting full day kindergarten and my wife, Elaine, is starting to teach music again, so home life is much more hectic. Naomi went on her first backpacking trip this summer and was not fazed by having to use a little hole in the ground. At work, I'm working on Playstation 3 which is odd considering that we have neither TV (sorry Mike, no Disney channel) nor video games at home.

Beth Robie 1987: Our family continues our Olympic travel streak. We spent 2 weeks in Salt Lake for the winter games. Sean is now 4, loves hockey and is ready to learn to skate - a future Puck-Off.

Michael "Demon" Beyer 1989: Section 92 honored me with a Section Distinguished Service Key in February 2002. In June, I accepted a full-time position at Centocor (a Johnson & Johnson company) to continue the robotics and clinical laboratory automation I had begun with them as a consultant. In September, Katie Edgar (a Brother from the Kutztown University chapter) and I moved in together in Bryn Mawr, PA in preparation for our upcoming engagement. We're planning to have the wedding in Fall 2004, so keep your calendars open.

J. Lawrence (Larry) Katz (faculty advisor from 1956 to 1989): Left RPI in 1989 to be Dean of Engineering at Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH. After several years I resigned, but continued as Professor of Biomedical Engineering (BME). I retired from Case in February 2002. I then accepted a new position as Distinguished Research Professor of Biomedical Engineering and Oral Biology at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, Kansas City, MO where I will be moving permanently in December 2002. Until then, I'll live in Cleveland, OH. Regards to all, as ever, Larry Katz.

Paul Lavoie [?year?]: Just bought a new house in Washingtonville, NY in September 2002 for his model train collection. [Ed: Sorry Paul, I forgot to ask you what year you graduated.]

Richard E. Vehlow 1991, 1993, 2002: Fourteen years of college are finally over! I received my MBA degree from RPI this past May in the infamous "graduation snowstorm." I am one of the probably very select few on the planet to earn their first and most recent college degrees in different palindrome years (normally 110 years apart)! I still work for NY State designing heating and ventilating systems for prisons. I still also live in the same apartment I have had for almost nine years now. As for APO, I have been serving as the Section 88 Fellowship Coordinator for the past year and a half, and now look forward to being quite active with alumni activities. Serving as Vice President of my 1991 alumni class since last year's RPI 10-year reunion and living in Troy, I hope to be of valuable service to any and all alumni!
